The Problem of Jesus

This is the sequel to The Problem of God from last term and seeks to answer skeptic's questions about the scandalous person of Jesus. He disrupted religions and the world with His claims. Together we'll dive deep into those questions in this study by Mark Clarke.

Journeys

Based on the book by Neil Cole, this study examines how God developed the apostle Paul as a leader. By observing how God worked in Paul's life, we can better understand how and where God has been shaping us throughout our own lives and perhaps where he plans to take us in the future. (Book purchase recommended | Buy on Amazon)

Parenting by Design

In this course, we'll explore the topic of raising our children well and helping them develop a strong relationship with Jesus. By examining our current parenting practices and behaviours, we'll identify areas that may require adjustment and learn how to effectively guide our children to become the individuals we aspire them to be in the Lord.

Authentic Living

Embark on a transformative journey with this book from the Freedom Session course. You'll learn valuable skills and practical tools for living a more authentic life with Christ as well as how to navigate disappointment, tension, and conflict in a Biblical way. (Book purchase required)
